

Submission of New Publications

The process for submitting non-fiction books about Italy and Italian American heritage and fiction works written by Italian American authors is easy. Simply e-mail the requested information and images identified below to Dan Miller at dan@italianamericanheritage.org.

That's the easy part. There are some considerations that are not quite that simple, however. They involve protecting YOUR rights to copyrighted materials.

Dan and Joyce Miller are the co-owners of Integrated Writer Services, LLC (IWS) that is the owner of the domain name (URL) and copyright owner of the website www.italianamericanheritage.org, which is maintained as a service to the Italian American community in Colorado. Since copyright clearance is one of the services IWS provides, the company is very aware of copyright issues associated with the posting on content on the Internet.

1. The submitter of all content certifies by the submission that they are the owner of the copyright for all items submitted, including promotional materials such as
 - a. Graphic of book cover in jpg, tif, png, gif, or pdf format
 - b. A one-page synopsis as a pdf or doc file (If provided as a doc file, IWS will convert to a pdf file suitable for download.)
 - c. Photograph of author in graphic format as above in a
 - d. Calendar of book talks/signings in Colorado
 - e. Flyers and posters of signings and book talks
2. You will retain the copyright for all items submitted. Your name and a copyright statement of your ownership will be included on the website posting.
3. By submitting content, you give permission for Integrated Writer Services, LLC to indefinitely post the content on www.italianamericanheritage.org. This permission is given gratis.
4. Integrated Writer Services, LLC reserves the right to post or not to post your submission.

Please include the following statement in the e-mail containing your submission:
I accept the four conditions set forth in the "Submission of New Publications" document for the attached submission.

If you have any questions, send Dan e-mail at dan@italianamericanheritage.org or call at 303.564.4181.
